

The 3rd Toulouse Economics and Biology Workshop

"Evolution and Morality"

June 4-5, 2015

Just as physics provides a foundation for chemistry, and chemistry for medicine, biology is the natural foundation for any science that seeks to understand the behavior of living beings. Recent years have witnessed a surge in empirical and theoretical research that establishes connections between economics and biology. In particular, these two disciplines are increasingly being combined in order to enhance our understanding of the ultimate forces that drive (human) motivation. Several key contributors to this research will be present at the 3^d edition of the Toulouse Biology and Economics workshop:

Jean-Baptiste ANDRE (Institut des Sciences de l'Evolution, Montpellier)

Ted BERGSTROM (University of California, Santa Barbara)

Ken BINMORE (University College London)

Armin FALK (University of Bonn)

Robert H. FRANK (Cornell University)

Yoh IWASA (Department of Biology, Faculty of Sciences, Kyushu University Fukuoka)

Richard JOYCE (Victoria University of Wellington)

Karine NYBORG (University of Oslo)

Arthur ROBSON (Simon Fraser University)

Joan SILK (Arizona State University)

Brian SKYRMS (Stanford University)

Robert SUGDEN (University of East Anglia)

Poster session for post-docs and Ph.D. students:

Besides the plenary sessions, there will be a poster session for post-docs and Ph.D. students. A limited number of travel grants will be available. Submissions (abstract + C.V.) should be sent to econbio_poster@iast.fr no later than March 31, 2015. When submitting, please specify whether you are applying for a travel grant.

Attending the workshop:

The sessions will be open to the public. There will be a limited number of lunch tickets available for those who are not formally registered for the workshop. To obtain a lunch ticket, you need to register by writing to econbio@iast.fr.

Organizers:

Ingela ALGER (Toulouse School of Economics, CNRS, LERNA, and IAST)

Jörgen WEIBULL (Stockholm School of Economics, and IAST)

Funding:

Agence Nationale de la Recherche (ANR)

Institute for Advanced Study in Toulouse (IAST)

Laboratoire d'Economie des Ressources Naturelles (LERNA)